See more Everybody loves the holiday season. According to a survey in 2017, 90% of Americans celebrate Christmas. Americans have numerous traditions and ways to celebrate Christmas. Some traditions practiced are the use of popcorns threaded on a string to decorate their Christmas Tree and the hanging of socks on the chimney for Santa Claus' gifts. Christmas is always a hectic season. Families from far away places get together to celebrate Christmas Day together. Some will do some Christmas shopping for meals, decorations, and more importantly, gifts. Gift-giving is not restricted to kids, parents, friends, peers, and charities with food, clothing, toys, and money. Giving a Christmas card is still the best way to show the Christmas spirit. Christmas cards are a simple yet personal gift that anyone will always appreciate. How To Create A Christmas Card A Christmas card functions as both a holiday card and a greeting card. Christmas cards can be digitally created or handmade as long as they are personal and intimate. This article will give you some tips for making the best Christmas card for the holiday season simply and easily. 1. Identify The Receiver Of course, a Christmas greeting card will need a receiver. Think of all the people close to you from family, friends, and colleagues. List them all on a piece of paper so that you will not miss out on any person who is important to you. Write their addresses as well so that you can easily mail them. 2. Pick A Design Software In creating any creative card, you will need the perfect design software. The software will make it easier for you to create a Christmas card. There is numerous design software online, like Adobe Photoshop and Microsoft Word. Determine which you prefer most. Choose a design software that you are most comfortable with. 3. Write The Content The content of your Christmas card is important if you want to wish the receiver a merry Christmas. The content of your Christmas card depends on how you are going to use the card. Is it going to be a simple greeting card, or is it going to be an invitation card? If you are making a greeting card, then the content can be a personalized Christmas card message that is heartfelt or Christmas card sayings. But if you are making an invitation, then your content needs to include the venue, date, time, and the terms, if there are any. 4. Design The Card When you see the colors green, red, and white, you will instantly think of Christmas. Most greeting cards use these colors. However, if you don't want to create the typical Christmas card colors, then you can use the color blue or any warm color. Some Christmas cards would include images of Santa Claus, reindeers, Christmas tree, or anything that relates to Christmas. There are no limits to how you design your Christmas card. All you need to do is enjoy it to produce the best card you can do. 5. Print And Distribute Your Christmas Card Make your printable card with the best cardstock that is durable and won't fade quickly. Place it on an envelope to withstand the distribution process. Distribute your card a week or several days before Christmas or the party. Once you've mailed it, you can now sit down and relax. Get to Know Your Audience In every business planning, you must figure out first who your target market is. You must know who they are to have an idea on how to start your greeting cards. A Christmas card could mean anything—a message for a family member, friends, significant others, or colleagues. These small things can help you figure out concepts and themes to apply on your holiday cards. 2. Come Up with a Well-Written Content For your content, you must incorporate it into the subject and concept you decided for your Christmas postcard. The content of your greeting cards can also be a Christmas invitation card for your upcoming holiday activity. You can have the name of the recipient, the message, the sender, and other essential details you want the card to have. Placing photos on your greeting cards can also be applied, depending on your theme and concept. 3. Play with Typography and Designs You need to have your holiday cards appear as beautiful and aesthetic as how you want your message to convey. Using artistic fonts for texts can attract your audiences even more. To make things easier, you can use pre-formatted templates to have a convenient process of making season greeting cards. If you have picked a holiday template, then you can quickly edit its content to match your specifications. You can choose any editing program you are comfortable using and customize the template with animated designs, messages, and other information you need. 5. Print and Send the Card Proceed to print when you have finalized your printable holiday card template.
